July 2018

Lots of fun, hot sailing has been happening at Austin Yacht Club.

The hot Dog Days series has been fun and mostly windy. Beer Can is still getting a good turn-out despite of the heat. And Wednesday night Sunfish/Laser series has been great.

Summer is a great time to get your centerboard boat back on the water. You can practice-up for the Centerboard Regatta scheduled on October 27-28. Save the date as planning is just getting underway.

There are two more Moonburn races, Friday July 27th and Friday August 24th.

The Singlehanded Regatta is August 18th. I thought about entering in my Sunfish but they say it is for keel boats. Rats.

Indian Summer Series starts Sunday, September 9th at 1:30.

And in case if you haven't heard, AYC will be hosting the North American Women's Sunfish Championship on September 28-29. We have gotten a great response from AYC members as far as loaning Sunfish and housing competitors. We still may need some Sunfish to loan so let us know if you know of any. So far we have competitors from Washington, Rhode Island, Florida, Missouri, Delaware, Arizona and Texas.

Happy sailing,

Annie Lancaster
